

BUSINESS PRACTICE AND MANAGEMENT

Unit-IV: Organizing and Controlling

Comprehensive Study Notes

UNIT-IV: ORGANIZING AND CONTROLLING

1.1 What is Organizing?

Organizing is the process of identifying and grouping work, defining responsibilities, and establishing relationships to achieve organizational objectives.

Definition:

- "Organizing is the process of establishing effective authority relationships among selected works, persons, and workplaces." — Koontz and O'Donnell
- "Organizing is the process of identifying and grouping the work to be performed, defining and delegating responsibility and authority, and establishing relationships for the purpose of enabling people to work most effectively together." — Allen

1.2 Nature of Organizing

Nature	Description
Function	Organizing is a fundamental management function
Continuous Process	Organizing is an ongoing activity
Universal	Required in all organizations
Goal-Oriented	Directed towards achieving objectives
Dynamic	Flexible and adaptable to change
Delegation	Involves delegation of authority
Coordination	Ensures coordination between departments

1.3 Importance/Significance of Organizing

Importance	Description
Facilitates Administration	Creates a structure for administration

Promotes Growth	Supports organizational growth
Clarifies Authority	Defines who reports to whom
Optimum Resource Utilization	Efficient use of resources
Coordination	Ensures coordination between departments
Accountability	Clear accountability
Decision Making	Facilitates decision making
Continuity	Ensures organizational continuity

2.1 What is Organizational Structure?

Organizational structure is the arrangement of lines of authority, communication, and responsibilities within an organization.

+-----+	+-----+
LINE STRUCTURE	FUNCTIONAL
(Direct Authority)	STRUCTURE
+-----+	+-----+
+-----+	+-----+
- Simple	- Specialization
- Clear Authority	- Departmentalization
- Fast Decisions	- Expert Advice
+-----+	+-----+

2.2 Types of Organizational Structures

2.2.1 Line Structure

Description: Simplest form of organization with direct authority from top to bottom.

Advantages

Disadvantages

Simple and easy to understand	Overburdened managers
Clear authority lines	Lack of specialization
Quick decisions	May become autocratic
Unity of command	Limited growth potential

2.2.2 Functional Structure

Description: Organization divided into departments based on functions.

Advantages

Disadvantages

Specialization	Conflict between departments
Expert advice	Violates unity of command

Efficiency	Slow decision making
Better coordination	Complex communication

2.2.3 Line and Staff Structure

Description: Line structure with staff positions providing advice and support.

Advantages

Disadvantages

Expert advice	Line-staff conflict
Better decisions	Additional cost
Specialization	Confusion in authority
Flexibility	Staff may be underutilized

2.2.4 Matrix Structure

Description: Employees report to both functional and project managers.

Advantages

Disadvantages

Flexibility	Confusion over authority
Efficient resource use	Conflict between managers
Team focus	High coordination cost
Innovation	Complex communication

3.1 Authority

Authority is the right to give orders and make decisions.

Definition:

- "Authority is the right to command." — Fayol
- "Authority is the power to command others." — Koontz and O'Donnell

Sources of Authority:

Source	Description
Legal Authority	Based on laws and rules
Traditional Authority	Based on customs and traditions
Charismatic Authority	Based on personal qualities

3.2 Responsibility

Responsibility is the obligation to perform assigned tasks.

Definition:

- "Responsibility is the obligation of a subordinate to perform the duties assigned to him." — Koontz

Features of Responsibility:

- Arises from superior-subordinate relationship
- Cannot be delegated
- Is the obligation to perform tasks
- Accompanies authority

3.3 Relationship between Authority and Responsibility

Key Points:

- Authority should equal responsibility
- Accountability flows upward

- Authority and responsibility go together

4.1 Centralization

Centralization is the concentration of decision-making authority at the top level of management.

Features:

- Decisions made by top management
- Limited participation by subordinates
- Uniform policies
- Tight control

When Centralization is Appropriate:

Factor	Description
Small Organization	Suitable for small businesses
Stable Environment	When environment is stable
Uniformity	Need for uniform policies
Crisis Situations	In emergencies
Lack of Capable Staff	When subordinates are not competent

4.2 Decentralization

Decentralization is the delegation of decision-making authority to lower levels of management.

Definition:

- "Decentralization is the systematic delegation of authority throughout the organization." — Koontz

Features:

- Decisions made at all levels
- Employee participation
- Faster decisions

- Flexibility

When Decentralization is Appropriate:

Factor	Description
Large Organization	Suitable for large businesses
Dynamic Environment	When environment is changing
Capable Staff	When subordinates are competent
Creativity Needed	Need for innovation
Motivation	To motivate employees

4.3 Centralization vs Decentralization

Feature	Centralization	Decentralization
Decision Making	Top management	All levels
Speed	Slow	Fast
Control	Tight	Loosened
Participation	Limited	High
Flexibility	Less	More
Responsibility	Concentrated	Distributed
Motivation	Lower	Higher
Suitability	Small organizations	Large organizations

4.4 Factors Affecting Centralization/Decentralization

Factor	Effect
Size	Large organizations tend to decentralize

Environment	Dynamic environment favors decentralization
Managerial Capability	Capable managers → Decentralization
Control	Need for control → Centralization
Cost	High cost decisions → Centralization
Nature of Operations	Routine operations → Decentralization

5.1 What is Communication?

Communication is the process of exchanging information, ideas, and feelings between two or more people.

Definition:

- "Communication is the transfer of information from one person to another." — Koontz
- "Communication is the process of sharing information, ideas, and feelings." — Peter Drucker

5.2 Nature of Communication

Nature	Description
Two-Way Process	Communication is interactive
Continuous Process	Ongoing and continuous
Goal-Oriented	Directed towards achieving objectives
Pervasive	Needed at all levels
Mutual Understanding	Requires shared understanding
Dynamic	Adaptable to situations

5.3 Process of Communication

Step	Description
1. Sender	The person who initiates communication
2. Encoding	Converting ideas into message
3. Message	The information being shared
4. Channel	Medium of communication (verbal, written, electronic)

5. Receiver	The person receiving the message
6. Decoding	Interpreting the message
7. Feedback	Response from the receiver

5.4 Types of Communication Networks

+-----+	+-----+
FORMAL	INFORMAL
COMMUNICATION	COMMUNICATION
+-----+	+-----+
+-----+	+-----+
Downward Communication	Grapevine
Upward Communication	Informal Network
Horizontal	Gossip Chain
Crosswise
+-----+	+-----+

5.5 Types of Communication

5.5.1 Formal Communication

Type	Direction	Example
Downward	Top to bottom	Policies, Instructions
Upward	Bottom to top	Reports, Suggestions
Horizontal	Same level	Coordination between departments
Crosswise	Diagonal	Communication between different levels and departments

5.5.2 Informal Communication (Grapevine)

Definition: Communication that does not follow formal channels.

Feature	Description
Speed	Very fast
Nature	Informal and spontaneous
Reliability	May be distorted
Spread	Spreads through social networks

Types of Grapevine:

Type	Description
Single Strand	$A \rightarrow B \rightarrow C \rightarrow D$
Gossip	$A \rightarrow B, C, D$
Probability	Random spread
Cluster	$A \rightarrow B, C; B \rightarrow D, E$

5.6 Barriers to Communication

Barrier	Description
Language Barrier	Different languages or vocabulary
Physical Barrier	Noise, distance, technology issues
Cultural Barrier	Different cultural backgrounds
Psychological Barrier	Emotions, stress, attitudes
Perceptual Barrier	Different interpretations
Information Overload	Too much information
Organizational Barrier	Hierarchical structure

6.1 What is Managerial Control?

Managerial control is the process of ensuring that actual performance conforms to planned performance.

Definition:

- "Control is the process of checking actual performance against standards." — Koontz and O'Donnell
- "Control is the process of bringing about conformity of actual performance with planned performance." — George R. Terry

6.2 Concept of Control

Concept	Description
Control is a Function	One of the management functions
Continuous Process	Ongoing activity
Forward Looking	Designed to prevent problems
Goal-Oriented	Directed towards achieving goals
Dynamic	Adaptable to change
Delegated	Control authority can be delegated

6.3 Process of Control

Step	Description
1. Establish Standards	Set performance standards
2. Measure Performance	Monitor actual performance
3. Compare	Compare actual with standards
4. Identify Deviations	Find variances

5. Corrective Action

Take action to correct deviations

6.4 Techniques of Control

+-----+		+-----+
	TRADITIONAL TECHNIQUES		MODERN TECHNIQUES
+-----+		+-----+
+-----+		+-----+
	Budgetary Control		Return on Investment
	Financial Statements		Management Audit
	Ratio Analysis		PERT/CPM
	Break-Even Analysis		Quality Control
	Statistical Reports		Balanced Scorecard
+-----+		+-----+

6.5 Detailed Techniques of Control6.5.1 Traditional Techniques

Technique	Description
Budgetary Control	Planning and controlling through budgets
Financial Statements	Balance sheet, Profit & Loss account
Ratio Analysis	Analyzing financial ratios
Break-Even Analysis	Finding break-even point
Statistical Reports	Statistical analysis of performance

6.5.2 Modern Techniques

Technique	Description
Return on Investment (ROI)	Measuring profitability
Management Audit	Comprehensive review of management
PERT/CPM	Project planning and control

Quality Control	Maintaining quality standards
Balanced Scorecard	Multi-dimensional performance measurement

6.6 Essentials of Effective Control

Essential	Description
Clear Standards	Standards should be clearly defined
Timely Information	Information should be timely
Flexibility	Control should be flexible
Corrective Action	Should lead to corrective action
Economical	Cost of control should be less than benefits
Human Factors	Should consider human behavior

Questions

Short Answer Questions (2-5 Marks)

1. What is organizing in management?
2. What is organizational structure?
3. What is authority?
4. What is responsibility?
5. What is centralization?
6. What is decentralization?
7. What is communication?
8. What is managerial control?
9. What are the types of communication?
10. What is the grapevine?

Long Answer Questions (10 Marks)

1. Explain the concept, nature, and significance of organizing.
2. Explain the types of organizational structures.
3. Explain the relationship between authority and responsibility.
4. Explain centralization and decentralization with their comparison.
5. Explain the communication process and types of communication networks.
6. Explain the concept and process of managerial control.
7. Explain the techniques of control.
8. Explain the barriers to communication.

Objective Questions (1 Mark)

1. Authority is the: (a) Right to command (b) Obligation to perform (c) Both (d) None
2. Responsibility is the: (a) Right to command (b) Obligation to perform (c) Both (d) None
3. Centralization means: (a) Delegating authority (b) Concentrating authority (c) Both (d) None
4. Grapevine is: (a) Formal communication (b) Informal communication (c) Both (d) None
5. Control is: (a) Planning (b) Checking performance (c) Organizing (d) None

QUICK REVISION

Organizing Process Summary

1. Identify Objectives
2. Group Activities
3. Assign Duties
4. Delegate Authority
5. Establish Relationships
6. Coordinate Activities

Centralization vs Decentralization

Feature	Centralization	Decentralization
Decision Making	Top level	All levels
Speed	Slow	Fast
Control	Tight	Loosened

Communication Types

Communication

Control Process

1. Standards →
2. Measure Performance →
3. Compare →
4. Deviations →
5. Corrective Action

End of Unit-IV Notes